Dear Admissions committee,

With immense pleasure, I write this recommendation for Yohannes Jima to support his application for admission to your esteemed university. I encountered Yohannes for the first time in my physics class. Yohannes has a deeper passion for science and has been one of the super-intelligent students not only within his class and school but also at a sub-city level. He is a few of the extremely gifted students I have encountered in my teaching experience. Yohannes was able to achieve a 4.00 GPA in all his classes which placed him ranked first not only in his class but also among the 2,200 students in the school.

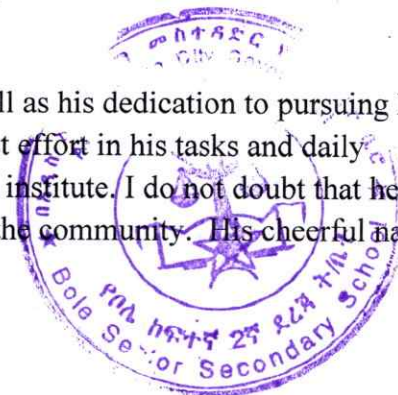

He has a keen interest and talent for physics and scientific inquiries. As I saw his participation in physics club and discussion with his friends he always used to present different theories of physics.

The driven, engaging, and curious student has made the classroom lively with his continued participation. In addition to his appreciation of scientific discoveries and physics theories, his understanding of quantum physics has always taken me in awe. Yohannes is a self-motivated, dedicated, hardworking student of high intelligence who is able to comprehend difficult theories of the world including the Theory of relativity, Quantum physics, Laws of thermodynamics, and many more.

He used to ask me sophisticated questions about Quantum mechanics. I appreciated his performance of understanding any topics of physics very fast. He has been attending and participating in the class in an orderly manner. He has also been helping me with supporting the students who got bemused by physics in the class.

He has indeed demonstrated excellence in all that he puts his mind to, whether he's designing a science project or collaborating with others. Moreover, he has always challenged himself academically. I am confident that he'll carry on displaying the same interest and commitment in everything he does.

I can truly attest to Yohannes' good moral character as well as his dedication to pursuing his undergraduate studies. I admire his commitment to the best effort in his tasks and daily deliverables. I consider him a great asset to your esteemed institute. I do not doubt that he will uphold all the standards and become a shining affiliate of the community. His cheerful nature and openness to feedback have enabled him to always learn and grow as a learner, an impressive strength that will continue to serve him well in college and beyond.

I extend my privilege to strongly recommend him as he would bring so much to your university. I assure you with unwavering certainty that he is going to thrive greatly and creatively with the help of your academic institution in the future. If you have any questions regarding his discipline, or academic performance please feel at ease to reach out to me.

Sincerely,

Mr. Atalay Bitew,

Physics Teacher,
