Recommendation Letter

In all the years I know, Biruktawit Daniel has shown to be a really competitive and highly responsible student. What makes her different from other students is that, not only does she excel in academic performance, but also highly participates in different activities. She has been participating in different school clubs including our science club. She has been the leader of the club since high school and highly demonstrated her quality leadership skills and initiated other club members to do their activities very well. She has been a very responsible team player in her club activities and takes her role very seriously. One of the evidence of her and her club members' hard work is the number of teaching materials, scientific models and different diagrams that are kept in the science laboratory. Her interest in the number of experiments that the club did in different topics is to be noted. Not only is her high participation in the science club, but in other clubs as well. Biruktawit Daniel is one of the few students that have been chosen to be a school representative to show different experimental demonstrations to many honorable guests including the international director of Kokebe Tsibah Secondary and Preparatory School. She is a very active science student. She also has a high reputation in other science classes as well. Her consistent interest in our science department has formed a strong bond between her and her teachers. She is one of the fast learners I have taught in my class. She has an excellent potential to understand things taught in the class very well and can solve different problems that are given to her by her teachers. She has never backed down from challenges and I can say she has solved them well. She gives most of her time to her education and to her extracurricular activities in the school and her community. It is my deepest regret to lose such kind of an exemplary student like Biruktawit Daniel as she goes to college. On final note, I think if she gets the chance to join your institution, she will be a great asset.
