TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

I, Mr. Alelign Eshetie, am pleased to write this letter of recommendation letter for Makida Yitbarek Tsige up on her request. I have taught Makida for 3 years as an English teacher and she has earned superior grades each year. Her quality is not only in written examination but more so in discussions in class. Her passion for reading and writing, set her apart both as a student and as a writer. Her written work is both clear and concise, as well as interesting to read. It is a privilege to have a student who shows exemplary focus, dedication and love for the subject. Not only was she interested in and motivated to learn the language, but she also put great work in to assimilating it to her own experience and developing her skills.

In addition to her academic work, Makida also participated in various extracurricular activities like our Chess club, Charity initiatives and most importantly The Reading Club as it was her favored club. In 10th grade she and her fellow students mobilized a group of students to work part time as an assistant librarian in their free time, which eventually became book club of our school. This has motivated fellow students to join the club and build their reading habits.

Regarding her personality, Makida is such a charismatic character such that her team spirit inspires her peers and other faculty members. Makida has an excellent communication skill. Her caring nature and personality allow her to work well with others in a team setting, as she always respects others' opinions even when they differ from her own. I have found her to be willing to invest her time and effort for self-development and persistent strive to excellence.

Considering her demonstrated ambition and academic aptitude, if I were an admission officer at a higher institute, I would definitely like to have her as my student. Makida would truly be a superior addition to the student body of any academic institution. Hence, I kindly recommend you consider her application and have her as a positive asset. If in case you need further information or any ambiguity I need to clarify upon, please don't hesitate to contact me directly with the following contact details.
